

Health Services & Policy Research
CONFERENCE

Doing better with less: Enhancing health system performance in difficult times

2-4 December 2013, Intercontinental Wellington, New Zealand

The Conference will bring together high profile speakers and delegates from around world for a series of keynote presentations and contributed papers addressing key themes:

- Health policy and governance
- Indigenous health services
- Pacific health services research
- Priority setting and disinvestment
- Service delivery and models of care
- Quality and safety
- Health services research methods
- Evaluation of health services
- Health information systems

Following on from the success of 2011, the Conference will once again feature a pre-Conference workshop for Indigenous health researchers on Sunday 1 December 2013.

Confirmed international speakers who are certain to guarantee a vibrant and exciting program include,

- Professor Nicholas Mays, Professor of Health Policy, London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine, United Kingdom,
- Dr. Jeffrey L. Reading MSc PhD FCAHS, Director of the Centre for Aboriginal Health Research, University of Victoria, Canada, and
- Dr Rebecca Rosen, Senior Fellow, Health Policy, The Nuffield Trust, GP, Ferryview Health Centre, London, United Kingdom

Confirmed Australasian speakers will add a local perspective:

- Selwyn Button, CEO, Queensland Aboriginal and Islander Health Council
- Stephen Duckett, Health Program Director, Grattan Institute

- Professor Jane Hall, Director, Strategy, Centre for Health Economics Research and Evaluation, University of Technology, Sydney
- Dr Karen Luxford, Director – Patient Based Care, Clinical Excellence Commission
- Geraint Martin, Chief Executive, Counties Manukau District Health Board
- David Meates Chief Executive, Canterbury and West Coast District Health Boards
- Cathy O'Malley, Deputy Director-General Sector Capability and Implementation, Ministry of Health
- Simon Royal, Chief Executive, National Hauora Coalition
- Dr Debbie Ryan, Principal Director, Pacific Perspectives

The call for abstracts and registration is now open.

The call for abstracts closes Friday 19 July 2013 and early-bird registration is available until 7 October 2013. See <http://www.healthservicesconference.com.au> for full details.

Three good reasons to attend HSRAANZ 2013

- Hear cutting edge research and opinion from the key policy makers, decision makers and researchers in a comprehensive program of plenary, concurrent and poster sessions
- Network with your colleagues in health services research policy and practice from Australia, New Zealand and overseas
- Meet with a wide range of individual health service researchers and representatives of health services research groups, government departments and agencies with a shared commitment to improving the health services patients receive.

For further information email hsraanz@plevin.com.au or telephone +61 8 8379 8222